Event type (select): *	Masterclass A top-down lecture, followed by a short Q&A imparted by a leading expert on the field that Huizinga members would not have regular contact with, often a researcher from a foreign institution. Participants could be selected on the basis of the relevance for their own research topic. ca. 10-15 participants. Workshop: Interactive setting with the organizer taking the lead. Possible preparation (reading several articles). Collaborating on the spot. ca. 15-20 participants. Selection of participants is preferential on the basis of relevance to their research. Roundtable (Rondetafel): Several expert researchers (3-6) sharing opinions about the state of research and new directions in a subfield of cultural history (or cultural history proper). After the discussion, a longer Q&A with the audience ensues. ca. 20-25 participants. Thematic course: Series of sessions, spread over time, led by a specialist on the field. This can be a combination of masterclasses and workshops. ca. 15 participants. Community building and co-operation in cultural history: events primarily directed at community building and co-operative initiatives Other, please specify
